Activity

INSTRUCTIONS

Tipis (also known as TePees) are cone-shaped dwellings traditionally used by some Native American tribes. Commonly used by traveling hunters, tipis provided a shelter that could be packed up and moved to different locations. Some tribes painted the outside of their tipis to decorate them with symbols of nature and the achievements of their family.

Draw and decorate your own unique tipi design using the symbols below, or create your own designs that represent you. Once decorated, carefully cut and fold along the lines to put together your 3D tipi.
